WALL STREET, }
THURSDAY, Nov. 13—6 P. M. }
It was hardly possible that the extraordinary racket in yesterday's stock market could be kept up without a check sooner or later, and it was, there-fore, not unexpected when it came to-day. There itive) at the opening, a very material recession to-ward noon and a recovery of about half the loss before the end. To particularize the various shanges in the unprecedented list of securities daily dealt in would require a supplemental sheet of the HERALD. The best that we can do is to refer to the comparative table of prices and transactions printed below. The bulis, who had quioted yesterday's market with a hurrah, gave tongue at this morning's opening more vigorously than ever, and, as a result, the highest prices of the present rise were marked. Toward noon, however, quotations ommenced to droop. Almost every dealer, had a profit, so far as it was figured out by pen and pencil, out it was another thing to get this paper profit into bank. To do so required realization, and realization necessitated a pressure to sell, and a pressure to sell brought about lower prices, and lower prices followed, as it was perfectly natural and proper that they should have done. Moreower, it began to be realized that yesterday's holat in values had about aten up the government disbursements, and that, in a money borrowing way, the stock market might be reduced to the short commons of last week. So at least some capitalists thought, and, so thinking, acted, as ride their endeavors to tighten money.

It was the popular impression that Messrs.

Sage & Gould, by calling in loans and otherwise making themselves disagreeable to borrowers, were at the "head and front of this offending." If so, they are not to be congratulated on their success, for although loanable funds for moment commanded a small bonus, for the better part of the day they were to be had at 7 per cent, and before the close of bank hours were obtainable at 3 to 4 per cent. Briefly, prices for stocks gave way under the realizations and the apprehension of fight money, and rallied at the close when both to the market as a sort of prodigal son that had been feeding in a half-starved condition, for some years back, upon such speculative husks as the Philadel-phia market afforded—was received to-day with open price from 73 to 78 provided. Later on the quotations fell back to below the starting point, and eventually closed with an improvement of 1½ per cent on the lowest figures. Among the stocks in which there were sharp changes to-day was Nashville and Chata bit of information may be valuable. The property (represented by quarter shares) has paid 2 and 3 per cent annual dividends since 1872, and from its sur-plus earnings has built 105 miles of new road, which addition to the property it is now proposed to recog-nize by the issue of scrip to the extent of 28 a 30 per cent. In answer to numerous inquiries as to the able to give the following particulars from official sources:—The company own the Union Railroad and not exceed $30,000 per annum. The Canton Com-pany owns 2,500 acres of laud in Baltimore and its vicinity and has a valuable water front, which is sed for elevators and manufacturing purposes at 6 per cent on its valuation. There is a bonded debt of $2,515,000, which is being annually reduced by purchases for sinking fund. From Philadelphia we hear of a market that was equally boiling with our own, and with Reading, the best of the bubbles ffering at 37, but afterward selling down to 35%. Pennsylvania Railroad was quoted at the opening at 55. Subsequently these prices were modified to the extent of one to two per cent, though later on, probter feeling sprung up and lasted to the end. Reading appears to be the key to the Philadelphia market, and the getting in or out of the door which leads to success seems to turn pretty much upon the use there was a lively business, an increase in general interest and much firmness in prices. Hukill was the favorite at an advance. The story that Bodie has been injured by striking water is emphatically denied by the telegrams received from the mine ient. London despatches announced a loss of £886,000 bullion by the Bank of England for the fiscal week ending yesterday. The proportion of reserve to liabilities is over 46 per cent, against 45% per cent a week ago. The directors at their weekly meeting to-day made no change in the bank's nominal rate of discount, which, therefore, remains 3 per cent. The market for American securities was again buoyant, in sympathy with the high prices current in the New York market yesterday. Erie common rose from 46% to 48%, preferred from 72% to 78 (with offerings later at 77), Illinois Central from 102 to 52% ex-dividend, Reading from 35% to 37% and New Jersey Central from 88 a 89 to 90. United States bonds were irregular, new fours advancing %, to 106%, and 414 declining 14, to 103% (ex-dividend), were firm at 97% for both money and the account. Bar silver was steady at 53 15d. per ounce. This was "settling day" at the London Stock Exchange. The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills was 2% per cent. At Paris the 3 per

INTERESTING QUESTION IN FORECLOSURE PRO-

B. M. Stokes, executor of the last will and testament of Elizabeth Borst, deceased, Sarah P. T. Borst, John Becker Borst, William H. Borst and others, beno-Becker Borst, William H. Borst and others, benoficiaries under the will, to foreclose a mortgage given by S. B. M. Stokes as executor of Mrs. Elizabeth Borst. The complaint simply alleged that Stokes, as executor, made the mortgage without setting up the will of Mrs. Borst or its probate. ExJudge Curtis, who appeared for Miss S. P. T.
Borst, objected to the evidence of the will and its probate because it had not been set up in the pleadings, and he further contended that the estate of Elizabeth Borst was largely indebted to the trust estate of Stephen B. Munn, to ceased, in which estate Mrs. Elizabeth Borst had only a life interest, the property after her death to go to her children. He also urged that there was no authority vested in Mrs. Borst, under the will of Stephen B. Munn, to mortgage the trust estate, and that the property so encumbered was subject to the prior lien of the trust estate of Munn to which Elizabeth Borst died largely indebted. Mr. F. De Peyster Foster, in reply, insisted that the mortgagee had parted with his money in good faith, and he boped the Court would not subject his client to so great a hardship as the loss of his money. Judge Van Brunt, in Supreme Court, Special Term, who heard the case, said that it was his duty to decide according to the law governing the matter at issue, that he would take the papers, that counsel might had in later their briefs on the subject, and that he would give the case a

Before Judge Speir, in the Superior Court, there was commenced yesterday the trial of a suit brought by Mrs. C. F. Wotton against Charles Wise and others by Mrs. C. F. Wotton against Charles Wise and others as sureties upon a lease to the Progress Club, of No. 110 West Forty-second street. This house was leased by Mr. Wotton to the club for five years, from February 5, 1872, at a yearly rental of $4,000, and in the lease there was a covenant that there should be no alterations or additions without the consent of the lessor and that the expenses should not exceed $4,000. The present suit is brought for the recovery of $10,000 damages for alleged violation of that agreement. The plaintiff sues as assignee of her husband. The defendants in their answer say that they have not sufficient knowledge to form a bolief as to any of the facts contained in the case and therefore dony them generally. Prominent among the witnesses examined was Mrs. De Long, wife of Captain De Long, now commanding the Arctic expedition. The case is still on.

OPPOSED TO THE CENTAL SYSTEM. The Board of Managers of the Produce Exchange met yesterday and received a communication from the special committee appointed by the grain trade on Monday last to secure the defeat of the cental on Monday last to scoure the defeat of the cental system, calling attention to certain points. First, it is claimed that the trade has hitherto made its own rules, subject to the approval of the Board, and, second, that the rules passed by the grain trade at a meeting held September 20, which were subsequently adopted by the Board, are not legal, because the railroad companies have not assented to the important amendments in said rules conforming them to the cental system. They also represent that they are not rules of the Exchange, not having been posted ten days as required by the bylaws. In view of these points the committee request the Board of Managers to postpone posting rules regulating trade in grain by the cental and also that the Committee on Grain be instructed to permit the "calls" to be in grain by the cental and also that the Committee on Grain be instructed to permit the "calls" to be conducted upon the basis of the rules now in force. The Board decided to refer the whole matter to the Comm ttee on Trade.

The managers claim that they had posted the rules adopted by the grain trade on September 20, but had them taken down after granting the request of that trade to postpone the date for the contal system to go into effect until January 1, 1880. They intend to post them ten days provious to the latter date. They also state that the railroad companies will readily conform to the cental if requested to do so.

rogate Calvin in the matter of the contest of the will of the late Caroline A. Merrill, who, as will be reof the late Caroline A. Merrill, who, as will be remembered, left the bulk of her estate to Cardinal McCloskey. At the previous hearing the reading of the foreign commissions was concluded, and yesterday the proponents introduced rebutting testimony. The first witness placed upon the stand, Catharine Walsh, began by stating that she was and has been for some years past a member of the household of Vicar General Quinn, and has resided with him in Fiftieth street, Mulberry street and Barclay street. She then went on to say that she first became acquainted with Mrs. Merrill at the Astor House, where she was employed as a chamber maid, just previous to the war. She attended to her room and washed her clothes and frequently conversed with her. Mrs. Merrill always kept her reom clean and neat and was invariably well dressed. On various occasions she expressed her preference for the Catholic Church, and the witness occasionally lent her religious books of that faith.

The next witness examined was Mrs. Ann Smith, formerly housekeeper at the Astor House. Mrs. Smith said she is now a nurse at the Woman's Hospital, and before the war knew Mrs. Morrill; she (Mrs. Merrill) was very particular about her dress, and especially so in the street; she expressed herself very emphatically on this subject, and said, "I don't propose to sweep the streets for the Corporation."

This alleged remark of the decedent caused a ripple of laughter in the court room, and was the signal for the usual bright comments of counsel, Judge Porter thought it the only means of sweeping the streets at the present time, while Mr. Parsons thought the Corporation a very indifferent party in the premises.

After this little episode Mrs. Smith proceeded with her examination. She said that in the course sembered, left the bulk of her estate to Cardinal
